PRESENTATION

In recent decades, the European Union (EU) has taken significant steps to promote gender equality through activities aimed at understanding the causes of existing inequalities and implementing equal treatment standards with specific measures in favour of women.

As highlighted by the European Commission in its “Communication on the Strategy for Gender Equality 2020-2025”, no Member State has yet achieved gender equality: progress is slow and gender gaps persist in employment in terms of wages, care and pensions, as well as in leadership positions and participation in political and institutional life.

The GEP is a strategic document that outlines actions aimed at reducing gender asymmetries and promoting equality. Through the GEP, and in line with initiatives already defined, Galeazzi Spa Hospital recognises gender equality and the fight against all forms of discrimination as fundamental values.

With this in mind, Ospedale Galeazzi Spa, in collaboration with highly experienced professionals of clinical and institutional relevance, is organising a journey to explore the path to gender equality in an organisational and institutional context, and gender medicine as a distinctive feature of a discipline that is fundamental to ensuring appropriate, more personalised and inclusive medical care
